

Honeywell Aerospace

Honeywell Aerospace Avionics is the world's leading supplier of avionics systems for use on commercial aircraft. Providing sophisticated airborne electronic systems for a variety of applications, these include flight safety and flight information services collision avoidance, radar and ground proximity products, aircraft interior and exterior lighting, communication systems, navigation systems, inertial flight reference systems, cabin entertainment and integrated cockpit display systems.

Technical support – part-time

Responsibilities:

Candidate will be supporting Component engineering team and will help them to manage data in their components database.

- work on assigned support cases - do research of current manufacturer status, suggest problem resolution, obtain approval, perform approved database updates
- work on resolving conflicts in component lifecycle data
- actively participate on weekly team meetings (telecons)
- support new part introduction process as back-up technical coordinator (generate drawings, prepare for release)

Requirements:

- Bc. university degree or technical high school
- orientation in electronics components / manufacturers / market
- communication skills in English (written and spoken)
- ability to work in team and under pressure.
- good knowledge of MS Excel, Word, Outlook, knowledge of Ms Access and/or SQL is plus
- must be able to work several days/week
- must be able to pay attention to details

We offer:

- Attractive part-time job in a multinational company
- Long-term career opportunity after graduation
- Work in international teams
- Flexible working hours

V případě zájmu prosíme zašlete svůj strukturovaný životopis (ve formátu *.doc nebo *.pdf) na adresu: zuzana.pucalkova@honeywell.com nebo kariera@honeywell.com.

Honeywell